militarism has traditionally been regarded as a phenomenon of the political right as this book demonstrates however various groups on the political left in britain during the years before the great war were able to accommodate and even assimilate militaristic ideas sentiments and policies to a remarkable degree in 1949 ireland left the commonwealth and the british empire began its long fragmentation the relationship between the new republic of ireland and britain was a complex one however and the traditional assumption that the republic would universally support self determination overseas and object to imperialism does not hold up to historical scrutiny in reality for economic and geopolitical reasons the republic of ireland played an important role in supporting the empire demonstrated clearly in ireland s active involvement in the cyprus emergency of the 1950s as helen o shea reveals while the ira formed immediate links with eoka and the cypriot rebels the irish government and the irish church supported the british line which was to retain cyprus as the middle eastern base of the british empire following the loss of egypt ireland and the end of the british empire challenges the received historiography of the period and constitutes a valuable addition to our understanding of ireland and the british empire the withdrawal of the united states from afghanistan has left a lasting impact on both afghanistan s future and on asian geopolitics it has also brought china into focus this book traces the emergence of china as a key player in afghanistan and the evolution of china s afghan policy especially with respect to its relations with the taliban beijing s dominant role in afghanistan s future is a potentially game changing development in asian geopolitics even if questions remain about the former s appetite to step in to fill the void and the limits of its ambitions in the comrades and the mullahs ananth krishnan and stanly johny examine what beijing s interests are and the drivers of its foreign policy and more specifically how its new silk road project the belt and road initiative is shaping china afghan relations they look at how afghanistan has emerged as a key point on the corridor heading west from xinjiang and discuss the xinjiang factor drawing on their travels to china s western frontiers as well as the internal dynamics that are pushing beijing s westward march another factor is the east turkestan islamic movement and the terror groups that are leading to an increasingly securitized approach to china s western regions and beyond including possible chinese plans to deploy special forces along the china afghan border areas in the wakhan corridor and badakhshan region china s afghan engagement has also deepened its all weather alliance with pakistan with beijing increasingly leaning on islamabad particularly in its outreach to the taliban and other elements in afghanistan that have long been supported by the pakistani state and is a perennial source of tension between islamabad and kabul the authors show how this increasing closeness is alarming for india and might have far reaching consequences especially in kashmir
